

Performance Commentary

February was a good month for SKAGEN Insight. The recent uptick in performance has been driven by solid result updates across the portfolio. Nonetheless, the vast majority of our companies remain deeply misunderstood and underappreciated by the market despite recent progress.

Diebold Nixdorf and Teikoku Sen-I were the fund's largest positive contributors. Diebold more than doubled in value again during February, bringing its total YTD return to a remarkable 269% (in US dollars). This places it in the number one spot of best performers in the S&P 1500 index by some margin. We had a target price of more than USD 10 for Diebold when it was trading at around USD 2 only two months ago. Now that it has skyrocketed to above USD 9, we have started to harvest the profits.

Thyssenkrupp was the fund's largest detractor in the month, but our confidence in this situation remains strong.

There is a lot of value potential across the portfolio as many of our holdings have previously traded down due to the unease of myopic investors and not to deteriorating fundamentals. Insight continues to have a portfolio of deeply undervalued and underappreciated companies where fundamental trends are moving in the right direction and activists are increasingly becoming the catalyst for positive change.

SKAGEN Insight invests in a diversified and actively managed portfolio of companies exposed to some of the most attractive activist campaigns globally. Activists seek to unlock value by urging companies to make improvements. SKAGEN Insight "shadows" activists by investing in these companies. The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return. The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
